Mia Pincekova is a Slovak actress and theatre-maker with a rich international career spanning Slovakia, the Czech Republic, and the UK. She made her professional debut at the age of seven, performing with Biele Divadlo, and later joined Ludus Theatre. Her early career included work with TheatraBratislava, Divadlo POP, and Prague's Theatre Procity, as well as a performance at the renowned Švanda Theatre. Since relocating to London to complete her MA in Acting at the University of East London, Mia has performed in fringe theatre productions and immersive shows, including The Paddington Bear Experience. She is the co-founder of East London Theatre Collective and Wandering Artist Collective—initiatives dedicated to supporting immigrant actors through workshops, original productions, and professional opportunities. Trained with the National Youth Theatre, Mia brings a multicultural perspective, versatility across genres, and a commitment to inclusive storytelling.
